How you will learn

- Courses start in September and throughout the year. The College uses venues in and around Harrow as well as our main campuses.
- Most courses run for two or three hours per week for 9 weeks; enough time to master and apply a useful range of skills.
- Learn in a mature and sociable setting. Each course has a strictly limited number of places. This ensures you receive the one-to-one support and access to equipment needed to facilitate your learning.
- Many courses use specialist college workshops, studios, salons or computer suites.
- Your teacher will employ a wide range of learning techniques: discussion, role play, question and answer sessions, written exercises, collaboration with other students and teacher demonstrations, depending on the subject being taught.
- Study at beginner level and progress to a more advanced course as your skills and confidence develop.
- Whether you're returning to learning, to improve your employment prospects, or choosing to learn for pleasure, Harrow College has a course that's right for you.

Student Services

- Harrow College also offers an extensive range of student services. These include learning support for eligible students; careers and employability advice; advice on finance, health and welfare issues; safeguarding young people and vulnerable adults.

Refunds

- The College may have to cancel a course if enrolment fails to reach its target numbers or for other exceptional circumstances: a refund will be paid automatically.
- If you cancel your booking in writing at least three days before the course is due to start, the College will refund the tuition fees but not the registration fee. Refunds are not payable once a course has begun, or if you enrol and then cancel within three days of a course starting.
